SUMMARY

At the time of this session (of 27 April 1988, at about 1530 hours), the "Pentagon" is involved in a crucial phase of an agreement via a "closed door meeting" that will facilitate the release of USMC LTC William (Rich) Higgins from captivity in "a few days" (10 days?). "Higgins will be with us (freed) soon." Khomeini remains in seclusion, a sort of hiding; a gradual shift of power is taking place. Every effort is being made to make it seem natural. The shift of power is the result of "silly stands" (political positions) that are adversely and internationally detrimental to Iran.
